PPLPMDL0800000001	Akron	OH	44333	7/24/2000	discussed some issues with pain management, patients that are abusing oxycotin, and he discharged two of his patients from the practice. One who was on 40mg tid with vicodin for breakthrough anf tries to forge a vicodin script. SNothe patients who was on 80mg tid and went through 100 tabs in two weeks, also taking cocaine. Mentioned that oxycotin still has the least abuse potential and mentioned oxy ir for breakthrough.
PPLPMDL0800000001	Akron	OH	44333	7/24/2000	using the 20mg tabs q12h for post op patients, he said he is using on a select group of patients post op, that is what he said when asked what type of patients he is using oxycotin on. Patients have gotten good pain control with good tolerance. Said did not have any cases today that were oxycotin cases, not alot of pain was his response.

BC 12/99-Dr. said she does not like Oxycotin as much as MS Contin. She believes that the conversion from or to morphine is 1:1. Sh says that after about 60mg/day of Oxycotin, she converts to morphine and pts. get better pain relief. Find out how long pt. is on Oxycotin before they reach 60mg q12h. Is she titrating daily? PPLPMDL0080000001	Norton	OH	44203	7/25/2000	does not like to treat chronic pain or maintain patients on opioid therapy. mentioned oxycontin use for acute pain, fractures, pre and post op and cancer pain patients. Wrote a vicodin script for acute low back pain patient. Reason was vicodin more for acute pain short term that works quickly. Compared oxycontin to vicodin, quick onset of action q12h dosing, nighttime sleep not an issue unless has disc problem. Fleishman study for low back , acute pain. not big on theo's last line.
PPLPMDL0080000001	Akron	OH	44333	7/25/2000	low back study show better pain control than vicodin and ask if has any of these patients? Gave a patient ultram for knee and back pain. He is not seeing the benefit of oxycontin vs the short acting opioids. Same response, thinks prescribing oxycontin is more difficult than vicodin or ultram. Difficult in that can't give refills have to write out script and more work for him to figure out dose etc..

PPLPMDL0080000001	Akron	OH	44314	7/25/2000	i misunderstood Dr Richmond, she said that 10-15% of patients require opioids for greater than 7 days. These are the patients that go on oxycontin or are titrated to oxycontin. She is on 2 80mg tabs q12h now. Going to do the talk at Barberton on September 20. 7 days or less using vicodin or percocet to see how much medication the patient needs. Not sold on the ease of titration with oxycontin vs short acting opioids.
PPLPMDL0080000001	Akron	OH	44314	7/25/2000	starting with oxycontin vs short acting. ease of titration> Not sold on onset of action and follows the same approach as Dr Richmond. Start with short acting for 7-10 days and then if go longer , then will go to oxycontin. Conversion is difficult because h e says that patients say it is not working. Marcus reprint for constant pain and not building up a tolerance as quickly. Still is not going to change what he is doing right now.
PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44195	7/25/2000	9/99-BC Did lunch for the residents on Oxycontin. Discussed using 20mg Oxycontin q12h for post-op ps. rather than 20mg q12h. Also discussed using Oxy-IR and fast where appropriate. Need to find out more from this physician about his comfort level with Oxycontin and it use post-op. 10/99-BC Dr. said he is not using much Oxycontin at this time, as he is on Hand service and Dr. Culver is a Percocet man and will not change. Dr. said if I get a stamp made, he will let me stamp a few scripts for him. Will have one next time. Will stamp scripts for Dr. Find out what kind of dose he is starting his pts. on. 11/99 BC Dr. is still on hand service and not using much Oxycontin. PPLPMDL080000001	Akron	OH	44333	8/8/2000	oxycontin is being used after the patients have already been on short acting hydrocodone, and he thinks it is chronic pain. This is usually 4-6 weeks worth of short acting opioids before going to oxycontin. NSAIDS, is first then vicodin, then oxycontin. Long acting is more for chronic apin and atc pain where when he first gives pain meds its on a prn basis.

Uses short acting opioids for OA and CA. Writes Percocet. Explained the conversion to Oxy. This is going to take some reminding.
PPLPMDL080000001	Euclid	OH	44119	8/8/2000	His prctice has become much easier to manage now that he has switched a lot of pts to Oxy. He gets many fewer refill requests and also has been documenting more carefully. Is using Vistaril as opioid sparing as suggested by a pharmacist. He tries this before titrating from 20 q12h. Is doing research on musculoskeletal involvement in HA and wants Purdue funding. Find out who he has on 40mg q12h and how they are doing? Diagnosis? Titration? PPLPMDL0800000001	Cleveland	OH	44106	9/13/2000	10/99 BC Took Dr. to lunch. He believes that Uniphyl is a better theophylline than bid theophyllines. He believes it should be used in COPD pts. He is having a little harder time in asthmatics. We discussed the ATS guidelines and the NHLBI guidelines. Dr. said he will look and reevaluate his pts. to see who might be candidates for Uniphyl. Asked me to contact him at the V.A. in December so he can learn more about Oxycontin and pain management. 9/13/00 Great guy- seems to like uni for chronother. Didnt remen martin study, but confirms his rationale. Says everyone knows theo is a weak dilator- but also must have other signif properties. Went thru Kidney- asthma- antinflamm- was really into it- remembers when study came out. Agrees with results. Overall, sees more of a role for uni in COPD though- but brought up asthma pts w/signif nighttime symptoms. Wants to have samples avail. F/U on specific positioning. Says never takes levels, - dose to SE and individualized to pt. Still wants to next time focus on pain mgmt- guidelines and conversions- stepped appr and use of oral before and after IV morph- set up apgmt

PPLPMDL0080000001	Bedford	OH	44146	10/19/2000	Went through Marcus reprint. Gave him the highlights and he said he would read it. He has told me that he has been putting more and more pts on Oxy instead of Vic and he does not use it tid he increases dose. He has come a long way and just needs continued support and encouragement to continue to switch his short acting pts. He agrees that it is showing huge benefit for his pts and his practice. Keep giving him the tools to move this use of oxycotin for severe pain patients. Majority of his post op pts are getting vicodin 1 tab every 4 hours. Hernias or pts that come back after surgery and are not controlled on vicodin he will give oxycotin 1-2 10mg tabs q12h.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44111	11/13/2000	is now writing oxy, just wrote it for low back pain, asked when we would get oxy in pixi and I said soon, he wants the 10.s
PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44106	11/13/2000	Dr. is very pleased with oxy, but insists that there are pts who need q8l Cited one case of a cancer pt who was taking 80q5l Dr. titrated him up to 160 TIDl Tried to explain that pt could realize all the benefits of oxy if tritrated to proper dose (3x160=540/2=270=2x160q12h) Did not even get into the overlapping releases. Bottom line was that the pt was doing quite well and is happy! I did not push any further! Set up meeting for Wednesday just to get a handle on what goes on in the clinic. He did say that chiro never presented to p/t. He is on committee, so he would know. Will follow up.

	Cuyahoga Falls	OH	44223	11/13/2000	Says he spoke for Purdue at some nursing home function thing. Long term tape on patient assessment in nursing homes. Spoke about 8 steps-vs-put it in your mouth and drink. Eratic absorption with patch and nice and steady with oxycontin. Contract disk, drug book with all opioids in it. Says he will let the nurses decide what they want patient on for convenience. They kinda like the three day thing. Titration, dosing. Breakthru, Nurses will be walking back and forth more often giving breakthru rather than Steady patient more predictable who is properly titrated. Looks like his wife works with him.
PPLPMDL0800000001	Cleveland	OH	44106	11/13/2000	Doc insists on first name. Lives in Strongsville, 2 kids, both boys. He is Romanian. He would love to do some speaking for oxy. Sounds like he also wants to attend events like Florida? My guess is a speaker training. He feels very comfortable starting right off with oxy if he gets a pt that is not controlled on what he/she is currently taking. He has no qualms about titrating up as high as he needs to go. However, he is using Duragesic, so at some point he switches and I am pretty certain it is not for NPO pts. Environment no good for probing, but need to know what pts, or what point he goes to dura.

	Akron	OH	44203	11/14/2000	Dr Campensa Most common dose that he has used is the 20mg q12h. These pts have been low back, ankle fractures or more chronic pain that have been on vicodin or percocet first. Said has converted some pts to oxycontin. No abuse problems with oxycontin, most problem is vicodin. Talked about using oxycontin as first opioid after NSAIDS, he said the 10mg q12h to start pts on. The board was empty but he said would put pt on oxycontin if need an opioid.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44106	11/16/2000	Doc was questioned by a Dr. Wallace, in anesthesiology, about using oxy for post op pain. Dr. Wallace thought it was very effective, but Kareti said it was not a good idea. His logic was that the pain diminishes quickly, but Oxy was a long acting drug, so still a good amount of drug in the system. Dr. Wallace did not buy it, because the drug would still be in a therapeutic window. I stayed out of that conversation. Doc said that Chiro is not available at UH, so I am going to sign him up for trials. He said he like ropivacaine, but also uses a lot of bupivacaine. Positioned level for high volume, high concent blocks. Said he would try. Wanted head to head v. ropi. Explained that was not available, but that all of the doses were the same, with same depth of block and all of the safety features.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44106	11/16/2000	Nice guy, working with Dr. Wilber in surgery. Post-op; Lets anesthesia wear off, usually in middle of the night. Pt awakes in pain calls nurse, who calls doc. doc orders IM injection of Demerol (fast). Then maybe gives pt LA Oxy in AM, if pt lucky. Otherwise sent home on ? (pt. only there for 23 hours) Discussion went on to using Oxy post-op, say 10 hours after surgery, to get pt through that first night, save all the phone calls and time. Brian thought it was a good idea, but not practical, because they can't follow all that. Our point was you are "chasing" it already, Oxy puts him in control.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44119	11/16/2000	Met with Dr. Wellman to discuss Oxycontin and their formulary. He told me it is based 100% on cost. He said if all meds were equally priced, he would probably use Oxycontin. He knows that Oxycontin has fewer side effects as he said this, but he believes that 2/3 of his pts. will do well on morphine. He also said that for pts. on high dose Oxycontin and high dose Neurontin, he has been having great success using Methadone as it is an NMDA receptor antagonist. I offered the PCS cards and he didn't even know what they were. He said talk to Jan. I also offered Senokot-S samples and he deferred me to Jan on that issue also. He said that if pts. come in on Oxycontin, it is his tendency not to change the meds.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44106	11/16/2000	Doc's brother, Doug, works for P&G. Doc goes to Green Rd on Thurs, Metro on Tue and Wed and UH on Mon and Fri. Does mostly trauma, shoulders and knees. Says shoulders need the longest pain mgmt because of sleeping. He claimed that most pts are put on Oxy for 7 days and pain is usually controlled by then. Then pt goes on short-acting for therapy or breakthrough. He admitted that pts are underdosed (10-20mg) but could not explain why. Residents usually handle the pain mgmt. He said they might tell the 1st or 2nd year res what to write, but 3rd or 4th year make own decisions. He contradicted Brian when he said that pts are put on Oxy before anesthesia wears off to get them through the night. He agreed that he could suggest to 1/2 yr res to go with 30 or 40 mg of Oxy and titrate down throughout therapy. Need to find out his thoughts on continuing lower dose oxy for therapy pain mgmt.

PLPMDL080000001	Warrensville Hts	OH	44122	11/17/2000	Met with Maria Foglio. She is point person in pain mgmt clinic at Ashtabula MC, 2nd floor. She is trying to get hospital in compliance of JCAHO, but is getting a lot of resistance from people on pain team- time the major complaint. She felt that if we could get an outside speaker to stress the importance of compliance, the process would move quickly. Discussed bringing an ML or Jim Ray, from Hamot in Erie, to do a presentation to pain team and Head Nurses. She would love a case of the assessment clipboards. Her concern was that we charge for all this service. I explained that we do education and awareness, because if pain is properly treated, Oxy will be used more. She said the docs use a ton of OxyC. Did mention that many of the pts want to go back to percoet. We agreed that it probably had more to do with habit. She said they do not like taking something only twice a day, they feel like they lose control. We talked about Chiro. Dr. Solomon, of anest. uses mainly bupiv. mainly because of cost. One doc did have an IV injection and the patient convulsed, but they were able to rescue. I explained that Chiro would may have not gotten to that point. She suggested I bring up, but that cost will be an issue.

He knows all there is to know about every pain med! He does nerve blocks in the OR at Hillcrest. He is also on P&T and is going to check on the status of chiro. 	Cleveland	OH	44113	11/27/2000	Discussed how Oxy could be used instead of short acting agents. He said he had some OA pts who he would try it on and left 3 PSP cards with him. Doc from Dayton, OSU alumnus. Trained with Dr. Nickels, definately wants him involved in a Cleveland Chapter of APS. He said he uses Oxy a lot (not). Could not identify what types of pts. He sees a lot of head, neck and low back. Deals alot with workers comp, union employees. He said he starts most pts at 20mg BID. If the pt was not controlled, he would tell them to dose TID. He did want to have to write another rx and go through the trouble. He was rning the 20 mg tab. So I explained that he should be rning 5 times the 10,q12h. That way titrating up or down becomes easy! He agreed. We discussed the benefits of easy compliance, sustained pain control, no acet or aspirin concerns. We discussed how to convert from vicoprofen, and pts would be on 20-30 with 50-10 IR so I reminded him again that would be 2 or 3 10mg tabs q12h. He said he will use on pts still not controlled on short acting. Since he is not taking new pts, business must come from conversions. Left PCA cards and highlighted expiration date. Left a documentation kit and two assessment clipboards. Follow up on PCA and documentation kit on next call. Bring in dosing chart on next call and highlight the 2/3 tab rule! He likes steak or chicken for lunch!

Wants information on Oxycontin usage in pain management clinics for back-up or validation of use in chronic pain patients. Tony, can get scattered at times. Pain management clinics use opioids. Oxycontin is the number one single entity agent used. Winer reinforced this. Goal every time should be to talk titration and increasing doses according to pain needs.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Euclid	OH	44119	11/27/2000	Dr. real interested in hearing something new! Really thought the concept of a long-acting opiod was great. Wanted to know where it is stocked. Also indicated that he would have to write on a special pad because UH pad says "not for sched 2 meds". He asked about recommended dose, so using the conversion charts, and since he said he usually rx perc 5 mg, the dose came out to 10-20mg q12h. So using the "hard way" piece, I showed him how to rx it 1-2 tabs 10mg q12h and then explained how to titrate. He was seeing pts, so asked to sched lunch so can discuss further. Follow up on stocking and dosing!

Main interest is the neuralgic component of the pain. Uses a cocktail approach in pain management, anti-depressants, neurontin, nerve blocks, opioids. I feel he is reluctant to use higher doses even though he talks as if he were an expert. Wants to set up a pain management dinner meeting in February or March to discuss pain and efforts to promote a pain clinic at Med-Ned. Has agreed to me doing a JCAHO inservice at this dinner. Goal: discuss marcus reprint and get one specific patient that needs titrated then introduce PSP card.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44113	11/30/2000	Doc mentioned that chiro will be used specifically for high vol/conc blocks and for interscalene and superclavicular. He thinks it helps the budget to use Marcaine for other, low vol/conc blocks. Need more clarity on epidural use. He seemed to think that bupi was fine. He also said he never uses long acting for many of the ortho cases, because they need motor back quickly. Reinforced the similarity of dosing and depth/duration of block. Real tough to get through on oxy. He uses it, titrates up when necessary. I offered the titrating wall chart. Cindy wanted pain scales, for wall, clipboards and pocket, because pts have tough time describing pain. He said he uses patch if patients asks or does not like tabs. He did not think that admin was an issue. He clearly stated that he did not think one caused any more constipation than the other. He would like Brian and I to educate primary care guys and other specialties (except ortho) on pain, oxy and when to refer. He feels he should be busier but referrals are slow. Discuss with Brian. Grand Round not an option since Lutheran does not do much of those, except nursing. Next call, find out about dosing

I discussed the patient in pain and how oxycontin will help the pts using the Marcus reprint and the OA study. I gave him a CD ROM on documentation and having the pts sign an agreement when using an opioid. Mention an elderly lady taking 10mg q12h for arthritic discomfort that was not being controlled on darvocet.
PPLPMDL0080000001	Akron	OH	44333	12/5/2000	Dr has some chronic pain pts on oxycontin, he is using oxycontin as a substitute for vicodin. Talked about the OA study and showed how oxy controlled pts pain and did not allow tolerance to build up. He is going from NSAIDS to ultram or vicodin first then he will consider oxycontin if taking vicodin at least every 6 hrs.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44106	12/5/2000	Doc and I had discussion about rixing TID. So I asked how he interpreted BID. He said am and pm. I explained that to pts it meant when you wake up and when you go to bed. This could cover 14 hours. So pt. may percieve drug not enough. Now, dosing TID means that they are overlapping dosing, increasing side effects. I asked why he would just increase the 12 hour dose. He explained that he did not feel comfortable going from 20 to 40mg. And that it was easier to tell pt to take extra dose than to write another rx for, say 10's and then explain to the pt how to take-especially when the call comes at midnight. It was clear he was rixing the 20 in a single pill. So I agreed that you wouldn't want to increase by 100%, that 24-50% is what is in the pi. Then I explained that is why we recommend doses to be rx'd in 2 or 3 pill doses, to make titration easy for doc and pt. I showed him the titration chart, and the light went on. I explained that once a pt. hit 3 pills of a strength, time to go to two pills of the next strength. It all made sense to him. He comitted to moving at least a few of his TID pts to the next strength and dose q12h. He did mention he has one guy on q5. I did not even try! Then we discussed how to dose the IR for breakthrough. He told me the clinic is in the 3rd floor of Bolwell and the anest residents are on the 2nd. He said it is a good idea to leave senekot s at the clinic. Next call, see if he stopped going TID.

He said he uses it for hospice pts. because the pts. don't have to pay for it. I asked him if is noticing a difference between morphine and oxycodone in the pain relief his pts. get. He said some need morphine and some need Oxycontin. The bottom line is cost. He will not make a pt. pay for Oxycontin when they can get other meds much cheaper. He said it is best to see him at Parma.

I showed him PI of both morphine and oxycontin and that principal analgesic effect of morphine was sedation and analgesia and that oxycontin was analgesia. I did identify 1 patient taking Oxycontin 80mg tid and he agreed to titrate him to 160mg dose and use oxy-fast for break through.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Euclid	OH	44119	12/6/2000	Is still convinced that 10mg q-12 is a fairly good dose and that before upward titrating to 20mg q-12 he needs to investigate what is going wrong. Still thinks Oxycontin is stronger than common opioids Percocet/vicodin show him AHCPR and PI for conversion of vicodin to oxycontin.
PPLPMDL0080000001	Lakewood	OH	44107	12/6/2000	he wanted a titration guide, he said he has been using a lot of Oxycontin and cut out his Percocet writing. Find out what patients get Vicodin
PPLPMDL0080000001	Beachwood	OH	44122	12/6/2000	Uses following total hips and knees. He has also been expanding into other procedures. He also has some chronic pain patients he maintains on Oxy. Has been using the 20mg tbs and titrating to 40 which is sometimes too much. Discussed using the 10mg. This will help with titration and allow pts to go home on Oxy instead of being switched to short acting.
	Euclid	OH	44119	12/6/2000	SA-LA-SA opioids only goes back to SA if patients don't tolerate long acting d/t nausea f/u with Levy side effect management guide. Asked him about any patients taking multiple 80's that need switched to 160mg dose. He said he had a few and would titrate.

He says he does not use it because he waits to see what everyone else does. I explained that he is already using it. Its the same ingredient as percocet, oxycodone, without APAP, packaged in a 12 hour release, so q12h! He stopped me there and asked me who uses it, I told him I heard that Dr. Tower is using (Barb Gill). Stop back and reinforce
PPLPMDL0080000001	Lakewood	OH	44107	12/6/2000	quick hit she said it makes sense to use OxyContin with the 12 hour contro; instead of every 4 hours with short acting. Hit Percocet hard

Uses on OB need to ask what concentration. He thinks oxy should be used in OB post op and will attend lunch up there on the 28th. Reviewed the dosing and cns/cardio benefits with everyone. Each doctor was fine with using although they are still doing a lot more general A.

PPLPMDL0800000001	Cleveland	OH	44109	12/27/2000	Dr. Weight very big supporter of oxyc. He went to seminar in calif. in summer of 00. He walked away believing in the q12dosing. He said that dosing was not an issue because only the 10 mg tabs were approved. We discussed Dr. Rosenberg statement that q8 was necessary at times. I explained that I learned it was because he would write for a 20 mg tab, and did not want to titrate 100%, so he would add a dose 40 mg per day to 60 mg. But Weight agreed that he would titrate up before adding dose. He did say that he needs to improve on starting bowel protocol because it has been a problem. We discussed senekot s for that use, but he was not sure if it was on form. I explained it was etc, but that I could leave samples for staff pts.

PPLPMDL0800000001	Cleveland	OH	44195	12/28/2000	- still says seldom needs titr- past 20-30- 30 is actually up for him used to be just 20- says rare to have someone diff to contr in his pt pop. and SE arent an issue w/oxy- get referral for other drs.
PPLPMDL0800000001	Barberton	OH	44203	12/28/2000	oxycontin use is coming from post op patients that are still in pain upon follow up in a week, if pain is not adequately controlled.

I asked from whom, and he said probably the competitors. I explained that it is happening with all opiates, duragesic chicklets and such. He seemed to think that Oxy was being abuse more. I said that is a matter of percentages, since so much more is being written, the 1% of abusers are more likely to get and then be noticed as abusers. Doc does do contracts and terminates treatment for non compliance. Jeanette booked a lunch for 2/2/00 and We are doing lunch for 20 at the pain week on 1/22, and Yokiel is speaking. PPLPMDL080000001	Fairview Park	OH	44126	1/15/2001	doc did not see acet as an issue. so we discussed q12 dosing, showed blood levels and how to write for ease of titration. he thought it was a great option to percocet, and asked about coverage, I explained that it was at each hospital he attends (westshore and Fairview). explained that it was category B, to underscore safety. He wants lots of reminders in between pts!
PPLPMDL080000001	Fairview Park	OH	44126	1/15/2001	Dr. knew of Oxy, had a few pts come through on it, but had not rx'd. She agreed that it would be appropriate for hyster pts but was hesitant about ob, but once we talked about getting a patient a good nights rest, she decided on her own that this is appropriate for new moms! We discussed the 12 hour duration/convenience of dosing, and she was well aware of the need for breakthrough dose, showed her how to choose the proper dose with conversion piece. discussed no acet to mask infections, she really liked that feature! Also showed her how to write 1-2, 2-3 tabs of 10mg q12. doc was also sensitive to hospital staffing issues and JCAHO standards and thought the q12 would improve productivity. Doc asked about nursing moms, I asked if she had concerns with percocet, she said no, so I explained no as well. She also liked the visual of the highly vasculating blood levels of IR v the consistent blood levels of CR.
PPLPMDL080000001	Cleveland Hts	OH	44118	1/16/2001	Dr. was running off for a c-section. set up an appt for feb 9th for 9am. But definitely will be late. Spoke with Annie, Midwife. She says doc uses codeine #3 for post op pain. doc does not like percocet. she couldn't recall why. explained oxy 12h, showed melzac peaks and troughs, oxy blood levels, how to convert to oxy dose. need to follow up with doc on all points. Annie says she will have xing privileges soon.

PPLPMDL080000001	Barberton	OH	44203	1/16/2001	starts patients on short acting opioids when need pain med on as needed basis. She said starts patients on long acting morphine when they do not have any health coverage, but if have coverage she will start patients on oxycontin, not the patch because she says it is too strong, need a lower patch. She believes that oxycontin in tolerated the best and does not see as much nausea and side effects. Advantage of the patch is if patients do not want to take pills or if take oxy and get sick and will not take anything oral, also said for compliance on the older patients.. Will not go to the patch unless the pateint has been on another opioid first, oxy is first long acting that she is going to/

PPLPMDL080000001	Barberton	OH	44203	1/16/2001	Vicodin and darvocet is what he is using for mild to moderate pain, chronic sever pain he will use the patch because he perceives that their pain will be controlled for 3 days vs taking oxy for q12h. I asked what he takes for breakthrough and it is vicodin and take quite often, so I compared oxy and the advantages. Oxycontin is being used for moderately severe pain for a short period of time, mainly cancer pain.

Finally the truth comes out that Dr. Abello is afraid of schedule II opioids and when he can he will write darvocet then vicodin. He can call it in and he feels he's using a weaker opioid. He also informed me that schedule II products have to be written on blue script pads for the Med-net health system. He tried to tell me that he only write for opioids about once amonth however I don't think he's including darvocet into that equation. PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44132	1/24/2001	Next call: continue to draw the comparison of SA not any different than LA, oxycontin is a better way of delivering the opioid. When he uses NSAID's does he use SA before LA like viox or celebrex? Showed him the levy paper and use of darvocet for cancer pain is not recommended, it's a poor analgesic and it has metabolite build up. Did he need to titrate the back patient up from 80 bid? he is actively being pursued by the Kadian rep and the Duragesic rep that oxycontin is the number one street drug and that their products can't be abused. He assured me that he is not going to stop using oxycontin and that patients are doing excellent. He agreed that any opioid can be abused the main concern is proper pain management. Next Call: Reinforce proper pain management and that he's a Re-hab doc not a DEA agent, and that his patients need proper pain management and that their not all drug seeking addicts. Also uncover where the SA are used in his practice now vs oxycontin.
PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44140	1/24/2001	he said he is using more Oxycontin but only for chronic pain. He wasn't starting Oxycontn early on either, and using T3's early on. So showed him conversions where he can use OxyContin at low doses like 10mg q12h and have the ability to titrate up. Went over where he can use OxyContin for acute pain and how patients with constant acute can really benefit. He didn't know that there is no ceiling dose and he had a lot more questions on how to use breakthrough.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland Hts	OH	44118	1/25/2001	Caught doc in Southgate. Gave him Cole 10 tips. Mentioned that, although I knew he rx's vico for cost, in the Cole piece it is suggested the CR opioids be rx'd to exert more control over pts. He did agree that is the better approach. I reviewed the titration again. He said the 20 is significantly cheaper than the 2 10's. Need to check that out at Marcs or Walgreens. He asked about the Time article. Discussed the problem in Maine. Made it clear that the proper use of the product is not being abused-that the product is being broken down. He said every product out there is going to have that problem. He did not have any concerns in his practice, but did say the DEA guys pop in from time to time, and he was going to ask them about it. Follow up on why they come in -Ask about documentation, what they are looking for. He does not think chirocaine has a chance at the VA! He does not do pain down there, just procedures. He would attend programs with CME's, and maybe one with the State Board on abuse stuff. He will not go out just for a dinner. He thinks that the VA is accredited and can hold CME events or get them through UH or CWRU. Maybe a program at the hospital would be best. Left him the chronic pain CME. They do not want even senekot samples.
	Cleveland	OH	44119	1/26/2001	Uses the term Addiction incorrectly and left the call because I disagreed with him that oxycontin was not addicting and that it was not immoral to use it in place of Darvocet in a chronic condition like OA. Next Call May 11th I don't know if he'll see me?

He gets very scattered when discussing pain management and wants me to get UH pain specialist to speak on oxycontin and let people know how to properly use it. 	Cleveland	OH	44113	1/31/2001	Doc filling in for Daoud, in Egypt. He likes oxy, does say that some pts need to go q8. Asked him about titrating up and keeping the interval at q12. He insisted that some pts need q8. We talked about how pharms have called my other docs who use oxy out of q12 and give a hard time. He did not have any of those problems. I brought up the Time article. He did not seem to be aware. I explained that a pt or competitor may bring it up, but that the article covers people who break down the drug to abuse it. Not the normal pt who does what he/she is told! He understood and did not see it changing anything. I gave him the cole print and highlight that CR is still the way to go to exert max control over pt. He agreed. We highlighted the docu and assess items. Not a lot of response from him. He has been using chiro in OR but not in pain clinic. He said we should just ask Daoud to order it up there. He did also mention that Chiro has been out of stock and they have had none. I stopped down in pharmacy and they had the quarter percent, 10 ml in stock. See if docs are looking for half percent. left

	Parma	OH	44129	1/31/2001	doc a real kiddie. he asked about stock in Purdue. He seemed impressed, as did Nancy, that it was privately held. I explained that the Sacklers emphasis on education and segued into the chronic pain cme. He took it and Nancy took one too. Doc asked about the Time article. Said a pt. brought it in. Explained that it had nothing to do with the proper use of the drug: that the CR has to be compromised. I allayed his fears that grandma is going to become an addict just because she is on oxy. He then asked why the state keeps bothering him. I told him as long as he is documenting everything, he is covered. I left the Federation of State Boards and highlighted assessment and documentation and parlayed that into the documentation kit and CdROM. Doc felt it added too much work. He just has the pt sign a consent that they may become addicted to the meds and also has them sign a copy of the article. I explained that this won't satisfy the regulators. Nancy really liked the kit and will integrate it. She really likes the section on domestic issues. Doc thinks that pts are addicted because they want more and more oxy. I explained that unless he does assessment, he does not know if the disease/pain is progressing or the time of day, maybe the pt is not compliant. He thinks that tolerance builds up quickly. Nancy explains that doc gets a lot of call from pharms because he rx qid, tid. She admitted that the pharms say oxy is a 12 hour drug. I explained that we don't want to overlap releases and induce side effects. Showed her the Melczak piece, the PI and blood levels. Showed her the titration chart and explain that we need to get the proper dose with the right tab and stick with q12. She did admit doc was rxing 20 mg in the single tab, explained to use 2 10's for easy titration. She said doc is concerned about the phone calls from pharms(see above notes). Also explained to her that the pts therapy goal is the key, if they want to get back into life, probably a good egg. If not, need to be watchful. Reviewed Cole piece on top 10 tips and she thought that was most helpful. Doctor does injections here. Uses all Marcaline. Did agree to trial Levo, signed up for samples. Did not get to talk about safety issues, but he is more concerned about cost. Position for high vol/conc blocks. Next call, break down all info- start by addressing addiction by explaining that it is not due to PROPER use of oxy. Discuss how document kit being implemented. Review cole piece on documentation along with state board piece. Explain that relieves doc of liability. That it can help find out if the pt pain is worsening. Pharm calls- review Cole piece on comm with pharm, emphasize proper dosing intervals and titration using chart. show blood levels and discuss breakthrough med.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Euclid	OH	44119	2/1/2001	Has evaluated oxycontin in about 30 patients dose mostly scopes in general and says they experienced about 50% nausea. He does admit that not all of those cases are a direct result of oxycontin but it is more than percocet. Debbie his PA has very little tolerance with patient complaints about nausea. I discussed with him the fact of providing an antinauseant with oxycontin or any SA for that matter, he sees the benefits of oxycontin don't let common side effects of opioids limit superior pain management. Next Call: Get him to try oxycontin again and anticipate common side effects.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Barberton	OH	44203	2/1/2001	concerns about using oxycontin vs vicodin or after vicodin and why? He converses OxyContin after vicodin. He is nto considering Oxycontin until taking 6-8 vicodin tabs a day. The most common pain treating is low back pain. I gave the comparisons b/w vicodin and OxyContin. Mg to Mg conversion, prompt onset of action, less tablets to write and for the patient to take. I asked for a low back pain patient currently taking 4 vicodin tabs a day.

Likes the concept of OxyContin as a basal dose post op for a couple of days but he wants to get them off as soon as possible, does nto even what to think about having to use opioids for chronic back pain, short acting for short term pain.

Always running way behind, will take appts, but will be behind. Introduced oxycontin, 12 pain clinic for pts types doc currently treats with short acting. Says he uses percoet a lot for post op. I explained that oxy in perco without the acet and in 12 hour release. Showed him Melcak peak and valley, related to percoet and showed Oxy blood levels, nice and steady. Main benefit is that pt can get a good nights rest and not chase pain. He brought in right away. Showed him Sunshine and highlighted that they concluded that oxy was as effective as perco but easier! He asked about dose, so we used calculator to find, 20-30 q12. explained to rx 10mg 2-3 q12h. Told him to expect similar side effects as perco. He asked about nursing. I explained that he could use the same precautions he does with perco. He would like me to help him educate staff at Huron on pain when his dept opens. Follow up in month to see where that is. Next call, highlight pregnancy category and reinforce ease of dosing. Left doc samples of senekot and tab for rooms.

PPLPMDL0080000001	Cleveland	OH	44106	2/15/2001	Fran and Dr. Powell met with Bernie Katsur, Rob Blair and myself today. Bernie shared with them all of the materials that Purdue provided to the Pittsburgh VA regarding training doctors on pain. Fran said that Wade had a lot of this stuff already. She was most interested in the form on assessing the elderly and mentally challenged. Need to get that piece for my other hospitals. Fran said it is best to work with each dept. in terms of getting in front of them and inservicing on pain/oxy, but all should wait until the VISN wide formulary is set. She is in charge of training nursing and Dr. Powell in charge of docs. Fran also wanted some videos for pts and nursing. Nursing to be shown during some sort of training upon orientation. Pts have a PERC (pt. educ. resource) library to which they are sent to be trained on their meds and stuff. Fran says bevaque is a big player on the VISN deal and wants to have oxy. the only question is whether MS contin will have to be at least trialed. TBD. Fran also wanted to see the UPMC data that Bernie discussed. The data concluded that using oxy post op reduced the number of re-admits and other pt. satisfaction scores improved. Fran is basically the pain consult for all post op pain, so she makes the "orders" or at least suggests to some docs what to do, but they will ignore her orders a

PPLPMDL080000001	Euclid	OH	44117	2/16/2001	Dr. Morley believes bottom line that Duragesic has a lower abuse potential than oxycontin. If he has a gut feeling that a person is not legitamit then if he gives them a patch they won't be back in his practice if they wer'er going to work. We did uncover the fact that in 5 instances where he wrote for duragesic because of suspicion he was wrong every time about abuse but the patients are doing fine now on the patch. He uses oxycontin because it works and patients are doing well on it. He uses oxycontin for more chronic conditions that are more like a train wreck but he does write alot of oxycontin. Finally we came down to the fact that every patient we went over that was on oxycontin had no abuse issues and he agreed that abuse is not an issue in his practice. Proper patient selection is key to Rx. Next Call: focus on patient identification and that oxycontin is the best choice for pain management abuse is not a concern in his practice because of his investigative process.

PPLPMDL080000001	Independence	OH	44131	2/16/2001	Nancy did not read oxy materials from last call. doc did remember that oxy is similar to percocet. Gave her sunshine study and explained that pain scores between perc and oxy similar, just that oxy lasted longer. Therefore oxy more convenient. she took a copy for each doc, with business card. Gave her sennekot samples, which she says she recommends to all of her moms. At next lunch be sure to bring up to doc about orders at SW. Doc in director of ob and on QA team for OB. PPLPMDL080000001	Euclid	OH	44119	2/16/2001	Comfort level of oxycontin upto 40mg bid and then feels he's not getting the support he needs from the specialist like Winer or spine surgeons. We discussed titration based off of the 3-2 rule and going up 25-50% not by mg. He bumped up back patient from 40mg q-12 to 50mg q-12 need to reinforce next call to go up to 60mg q-12. he needs to realize that although he may refer to a specialist they probably don't understand opioids as well as he does and Winer definitely does not. Next Call: focus on titration with improvement in function in activities of daily living he agrees with this approach completely but is afraid to move ahead without the support of pain specialist team.
PPLPMDL080000001	Cleveland	OH	44113	2/16/2001	talked again about titration, he says that he is now trying to write the 40 and 80 mg doses, he did ask about all the bad press, told him it was just a passing story and not to worry about it, follow up

PPLPMDL080000001	Middleburg Hts	OH	44130	2/20/2001	doc just back from AAPM meeting. He said he learned a lot about oxy. He is really most impressed by the dual release mech to give fast onset and make it quicker to see if dose is correct, especially v. mscontin. He was surprised to learn of how duragesic could also be abused. Dr. Safer gave the keynote address and discussed the advancement of pain treatment long acting oxycodone has provided. He continued with diversion as an issue. His solution was to develop better ways of identifying bad apples upon initial evaluation to avoid problems. Dr. Spiro indicated he does discharge quite easily and doesn't feel like he has a huge problem, although he believes we are seeing the tip of the iceberg. He shared a story that contractors finishing his basement asked about oxy. None of them had family members who were treated for cancer, so doc is very suspicious why they were asking. I offered the documentation kit. Doc stated it was the first real tangible resource he had any company offer him. He likes the questions, although wants to reword them so it is not so obvious that doc wants to know about abuse potential. Gave one for him, Kristen and Sfeir. They will look it over and try to work it in. They would have pts fill out while waiting. Doctors wife read about the hold up at Walgreen's. She also related some things she heard on NPR. Dr. Basali was on there and explained what a benefit oxy has been to pain pts. Discussed the media hype being bad. She also said the Dianne Rheams show discussed JCAHO standards. Dr. did say he is going to go with oxy first line, because of the fast onset and easy titration. He agreed that Dura is hard to titrate, but he tried to avoid pills. Now he knows it is abused, so no real benefit. He asked about using oxy rectally. I explained that it is not indicated in the PI. He said the same thing is true for MSONting, but he has used it for years. He does consult on the floors for pain and indicates that we can help staff learn about assessments! Differentiating neuropathic pain v. somatic and therapies. He agrees that oxy is appropriate in OB, because of the success of oxy in ortho surg. He would support. He did say that the benefit of less intervention cuts both ways. On one hand, it can help increase productivity of nurse with less need to intervene. However, some docs write certain orders to make sure nurse is interacting with pt consistently. He sees no sense in using chiro or ropi. he said, at one time bupri problems were huge, but docs have become proficient in using. Since there is no cost benefit, safety is not enough of a factor to use chiro. Dr. Kappus has used oxy. said she is using mostly for hyster surg 20-30 mg q12. Finds that, so far, pts are doing well. She did ask about diversion issue. Explained to her that junkies are busting up the drug and abusing. She seemed concerned that her pts would become addicted. shared that only one percent of pts on chronic therapy become addicted. Explained from the pi that if pts take the drug as instructed, it should help avoid any problems. She will continue to use for post surg. seemed ok for rxing to nursing moms, find out if she had issues with percocet in that population.
PPLPMDL080000001	Fairview Park	OH	44126	2/20/2001	more selective in using OxyContin, concerned about diversion and patients selling the medication or duplicating scripts for OxyContin. He wrote two scripts today, one was a lady with osteoporosis and joint pain. Thinks the best drug for chronic pain, for lack of APAP. Going to continue to use, another patient was getting 20mg q12h with neurontin for an arthropathy.
PPLPMDL080000001	Barberton	OH	44203	2/20/2001	Gave doc 7 more PEI cards. He did bring up all the media coverage of oxy abuse. He said it would not change how he treats pts, but thinks it is going to scare good pts away and encourage more of the addicts to seek out oxy. Jeanette also very concerned about the coverage hitting so close to home. Explained that Purdue is addressing the issue proactively. Jeanette will call me with contact person info for Columbus Pharmacy program on May 8th. She is open to speak to Lake East West on April May on Tuesdays. She is willing to speak at Ashtabula and share what they are doing at Southpointe to comply with Jcaho standards.

PPLPMDL080000001	Akron	OH	44319	2/20/2001	abuse of OxyContin is a concern, mentioned more patient coming in for OxyContin, but said he is only giving OxyContin to select patients, like OA and compression fracture in older patients. Converted a pt to 40mg q12h for chronic low back pain from 2 vicodin every 4 hours.
PPLPMDL080000001	Barberton	OH	44203	2/20/2001	Using on chronic low back and some fibromyalgia pain, has been using the 40mg and 80mg tabs converting from vicodin q4h.
PPLPMDL080000001	Akron	OH	44203	2/20/2001	With the consultation of Dr Midian, the ER is not going to use OxyContin now because of the abuse potential in the area. Still writing vicodin out of the He said he write 10 vicodin tabs 1-2 q4-6h and does not care how quickly they take him, he will just send them to the FP. Also said FP all trying to be pain dr's writing high doses, he is not seeing benefit of OxyContin to pain patients. He has difficulty titrating OxyContin for acute fractures or pain. 20mg ,or 40mg q12h hard to find right dose in the short time.
PPLPMDL080000001	Cleveland	OH	44111	2/20/2001	talked to doctor about his use of oxycotin, he is not worried about the press even though he brought it up, talked about titration and bringing in a speaker
PPLPMDL080000001	Barberton	OH	44203	2/20/2001	compare oxycotin vs the patch and the ease of use for oxy. Show ease of staying with oxycotin and titrating vs switching to the patch. Talked about three patients that have asked if they should be taken off of Oxycontin for being abused and that they may become addicted to the medication. She said she is going to write a letter to the Beacon Journal about OxyContin and how it helps cancer patients and the patients need not fear becoming addicted to OxyContin.
PPLPMDL080000001	Barberton	OH	44203	2/20/2001	inservices on rehab floor and also get specific patients that are on oxycotin. He does not have any patients on 80mg tabs now. Discussed rehab patients , most are on 20-30mg q12h, more subacute pain than chronic pain. This time he said titrates up to 40mg q12h and then will switch to either Duragesic, MS Contin, he said if pt says not controlling the pain at that point, he goes on how the patient evaluates the pain. His evaluation is function, but he also used visual analoge scales. His next step would be 40mg q8h. Not sure if titrating a patient above 40mg q12h, whether the patient has more pain or whether the medication is not working. Wants to do post up pain control, one with OxyContin, a control group and using viox for pain control.
PPLPMDL080000001	Cleveland	OH	44109	2/20/2001	titration, talked about higher doses that other oncologist are using, he says that he has no problem using higher doses, cont to focus on him
PPLPMDL080000001	Euclid	OH	44119	2/20/2001	Next Call: bring in faces scale to use for the fifth vital sign discussed negative publicity about oxycotin he thought it was terrible representation by the news media. He's confident that it won't disrupt his practice and will continue to use. Next Call: faces scale in the rehab and discuss titration q/t function
PPLPMDL080000001	Cleveland	OH	44109	2/20/2001	she was asking questions concerning titration, she wanted to know how to titrate pt from 20mg q12 up, told her she would
PPLPMDL080000001	Cleveland	OH	44109	2/20/2001	talked about dr cheveln, he really liked his talk, he says that he is now making a concerted effort to treat pain, talked about oxycotin and titration
PPLPMDL080000001	Cleveland	OH	44109	2/20/2001	talked about dr cheveln, she thinks he is a pig, but that he did a nice job talking about pain mgt, to my surprise she is a big proponent of oxycotin and thinks the media should run astory on her pts that are doing very well, talked about titration
PPLPMDL080000001	Akron	OH	44333	2/20/2001	using for all cases that involve ligament ligation, pin screw insertion on fracture repairs. Talked about using the 20mg q12h and even 40mg q12h for more severe cases. Control the pain.
PPLPMDL080000001	Cleveland	OH	44195	2/21/2001	caught doc as she was going in to see pt. just told her I left a copy of the cole piece that I promised her.
PPLPMDL080000001	Barberton	OH	44203	2/20/2001	Follow up and see what surgical cases used and how dosed, thinking more for shoulder cases? has had mixed review about using OxyContin vs vicodin, he is under dosing , using the 10mg tabs only 1-2 Q12h vs vicodin 1-2 tabs q4-6h. Also mentioned concerned of abuse, so not sure if it is the abuse, he is not comfortable about the dosing so it is not controlling the pain like he wants.
PPLPMDL080000001	Akron	OH	44333	2/20/2001	complaints are that patients taking OxyContin are selling the medication and not taking it, said pts were given urine screens and oxycodone was not showing up. Once the patients were getting their Oxy scripts and the not showing up for their MRI's. Discussed using OxyContin for the right patient and he did say that it worked for alot of his patients, so he did write a 40mg tab script for an older woman with Osteochondritis, so set up a lunch and he said will be more selective in patients getting OxyContin.
PPLPMDL080000001	Akron	OH	44319	2/20/2001	what is he using for mild pain? using darvocet first and then vicodin for mild pain. OxyContin is used after vicodin. Mentioned abuse of OxyContin, asked if it was a problem for him and he said no. Talked about selecting the right patient, highest weight will go is 40mg q12h, does not feel patient need anymore, even said suprised to see a cancer pt taking 160mg q12h. uniphyl, for severe asthma and COPD. senokot-s.
PPLPMDL080000001	Cleveland	OH	44115	2/21/2001	Dr. Yarboro said he is doing a lot more urine screening now and has discharged a ton of pts. a good amt who have been on oxy. He and Pat are both surprised that even some of their best/favorite pts tested negative. It really caused Pat a lot of concern, so she instructed doc to not write oxy, unless through other office. We discussed the media attention regarding oxy. He said he would continue to rx, but only for pts who would need 2-3 tabs of combos, because of hepatotoxicity. When he does write oxy he will refer to Nickels and Allen, or Dawoud. Pat asked if Nickels writes oxy, I told her not much. Doc still has not used for OB. Shared with him Dr. Spiro comment that ortho has had such success with acute pain mgmt with oxy, why not ob. He committed to trying oxy. He asked about oxy formulary, reassured him that it is available everywhere. Discussed that doc's strategy is right in step with guidelines. Doc has pts on 80 q12 with good success. We talked about using the pt. diaries as another tool to weed out bad apples (if they do not complete, discharge), he liked that! Pat insists that until the state makes it clear what they want to happen with oxy, she does not want it written. She said inspector was there today asking what percent of pts on c2's and of that what percent on oxy! Practice seems pretty well protected with docu and assess. Shared the consensus statement regarding diversion. The point is not to inhibit opiod rxing, but to better qualify pt selection.

PPLPMDL080000001	Parma	OH	44129	2/21/2001	doc shared a 70 page complaint that he filling with Dept of Job and Family services (medicaid). they will not reimburse him for blocks he has been performing. additionally, any oxycotin rx's he writes have to be precerted. When he tries to precert, they insist that he use vicodin 1st line, then Vicodin ES before they will approve. The dept reported to doc to state board for using too many c2's. He wants purdue to help plead his case. He feels like he is being singled out. I explained that as far as we are told, state board is not trying to inhibit rx's of opioids, but want to ensure that assess and docu are being done, which he does. Mentioned to Nancy that using qid or tid may make him vulnerable, but not to the point of investigation. Reviewed cole again, especially about communication with pharmacies as to inform them of his approach to assure them he is not up to doing anything wrong. May need to involve Ruth
